

Explanation of our Tenant Fees

We would like to provide clarity of the fees that will become payable should you apply for a tenancy on a property we are marketing as being available to rent and those that could be payable during the tenancy. We believe you should understand these before you make any decision about a property or before you decide to view a property.

We set out below what work is involved and how our fees are calculated once your offer has been accepted by your prospective landlord. These fees will be paid in addition to any Rent and Deposit that is due under a Tenancy Agreement. Acceptance of any offer will be subject to contract, referencing and Immigration checks. These will usually cover:

Referencing and Right to Rent Checks - A check against the credit file and public records of the individual, An Anti-Money Laundering check, Confirmation of employment and salary details, Confirmation of previous tenancy details, Right to Rent checks, reporting the results of all those checks to your prospective landlord to see if your application is acceptable.

Tenancy Agreement - Negotiating and agreeing a tenancy agreement between you and your prospective landlord, including any special clauses or requirements which have been requested, once negotiations are finalised produce final copies for signature. This cost of this is shared between the landlord and tenant.

Inventory Checks - the landlord will pay for the compilation of the inventory.

Renewal/Extension Agreements - Negotiating and agreeing a tenancy renewal between you and your landlord, including any special clauses or requirements which have been requested, once negotiations are finalised produce final copies for signature. This cost of this is shared between the landlord and tenant, paid for at the time of the renewal.

Tenant deposit

A deposit equivalent to a month's rent plus £100 will be required to be paid at the start of the tenancy. This is subject to referencing.
